Biography

Eric is a recent graduate of Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law and a dedicated associate in Lewis Wagner & Trimble's business litigation group.

Prior to joining the firm, he gained valuable litigation experience working as clerk for Judge Heather Welch in the Indiana Commercial Court. His prior role at an AmLaw 200 firm further helped him hone his skills in legal research and client communication, making him a well-rounded legal professional.

He has received numerous accolades, including the CALI Excellence for the Future Award and is an active member of numerous legal societies. Eric's academic achievements are complemented by his practical experience, which he gained from working full-time while attending law school.

Outside of his practice, Eric is deeply involved in community service and engagement. He volunteers for various community-based projects and is a member of several civic organizations. Additionally, he enjoys camping, experiencing live music, and trying new restaurants whenever possible.
